

in this issue

no. 14

April 2007

Editorial

004 BY RENATO RUGGIERO

europe

008 Turkey, the challenges of the biggest converging market BY MATTEO FERRAZZI, YELDA YUCEL
In the last two years Turkey attracted twice the amount of FDI received in the whole of the previous decade. And foreign entrepreneurs say that...

strategy

016 Does The US Reign Supreme in Nuclear Weapons? BY GIORGIO S. FRANKEL
It had looked as though the world was rid of the fear of nuclear war. But the arms race, including atomic, is back. And the international scenario is getting ready for a new "cold war"

russia

026 How does Putin rate In the Middle East? BY PIERO SINATTI
Russia is taking over the role the USSR held in the Middle East. The push comes from business, and consensus grows also in Iran and even Israel

037 We're not a banana republic, says Mitvol EDITED BY CRISTINA GIULIANO
An interview with the man who steers Russia's environmental authority with an iron hand and has brought licenses for the main energy projects in Russia up for review

"that's incredible" column

040 EDITED BY CARLOTTA MAGNANINI

anthropology

042 Rumiz: the long journey of Kapuscinski EDITED BY VITTORIO BORELLI
Paolo Rumiz's text and Monika Bulaj's pictures pay tribute to the great journalist Ryszard Kapuscinski, who was very popular with the young and died this January

culture

056 Mitteleuropean Philosophy a forgotten tradition BY MASSIMO LIBARDI
There is a philosophical tradition, variously defined as "Mitteleuropean philosophy", "Austrian philosophy", "Mitteleasteuropean philosophy", which is difficult to find in manuals

063 Wajda sends Poland to the cinema BY FERNANDO ORLANDI
With Post mortem, the director Andrzej Wajda shows how a people cannot live without considering their history

far east

068 Why to place Asia at the centre EDITED BY MARIA ELENA VIGGIANO
The management of cultural diversity is the real challenge of this century. This is the theory outlined in the book Asia al centro by Franco Mazzei and Vittorio Volpi, scholars and experts on Japan

dossier

075 CLIMATE: THE CONSEQUENCES

076 Global warming, a catastrophic business BY DONATO SPERONI
The Fourth IPCC Report explains that climate change is a dramatic problem right now, with important consequences for politics and for the economy

085 Kostoris: the first one to move wins
What seemed until yesterday to be an imaginary scenario could now also have an effect on immediate behaviour patterns, explains Fiorella Kostoris, Professor of Economics at La Sapienza University in Rome, and former president of the ISAE

088 Europe's energy and climate challenge BY MARZIO GALEOTTI
50 years after the Treaty of Rome, 10 years after the signing of the Kyoto Protocol and 3 years after its implementation, Angela Merkel's Europe has decided to become a pioneer in the fight against climate change

099 Sachs: resource conflicts and global justice EDITED BY ANTONIO BARBANGELO
Wolfgang Sachs, a researcher at the Wuppertal Institut, has proposed some radical solutions: energy from the sun, a "light economy", but also limited development of the industrialised countries and moderate growth in the southern hemisphere

free numbers

economy

reportage

election monitoring

glocalist leaders

do human rights have frontiers?

document

balkans

events

new europe
economic dossier letters

who's who

- 106 Van Hulst: no way out without India and China EDITED BY SIMONE COFFERATI
We will not go anywhere without the Asian giants, which are huge consumers of energy, explains Noè van Hulst, head of the Long-Term Co-operation and Policy Analysis Office of the International Energy Agency
- 113 EDITED BY LARA COTT
- 114 China: an identikit picture of a great power BY VITTORIO BORELLI
A book analyses the main risks of excessive growth of the Asian power and outlines the steps required for it to be stabilized
- 121 The Philippines: a big unfulfilled promise BY SILVIA SARTORI
It was to have become a new Japan or Korea. Instead, unemployment, poverty and corruption flourish, with a regime that has failed from the human rights standpoint as well
- 128 EDITED BY MARCO MONTANARI
- 132 Slam: when passion becomes business EDITED BY SASA CARPANEDA
Founded almost for fun in 1979 on the initiative of a group of Genoese sailors, today Slam is well-known and highly regarded in the nautical clothing world
- 137 Giunti, how to become a glocalist with books EDITED BY GUIDO VIGNA
An unusual case history in the publishing sector, where language barriers do not encourage internationalisation
- 141 Faam: recharging the battery of the economy EDITED BY ANTONIO BARBANGELO
Three factories in Italy and two abroad for the company that believes that there is a future for electric vehicles
- 146 EDITED BY ALESSANDRA CIPOLLA
- 148 The European Charter of Patients' Rights EDITED BY GIOVANNI MORO
The results of the programme dedicated to patients' rights sponsored by the Active Citizenship Network and based on extensive experience accumulated in Italy by the Court for Patients' Rights of Cittadinanzattiva
- 158 The possible dialogue on the shores of the Adriatic BY ITALO GARZIA
The history of Europe is also a history of minorities. A book illustrates the republics that have replaced the former Yugoslavia
- 165 The Italian language as a passepartout BY PASQUALE GUARAGNELLA
Any attempt at collaboration must begin from the achievement of a common linguistic base
- 169 In Belgrade the design of Eastern Europe is born BY SANJA LUCIC
The second edition of Change<sup>2</sup>, the design fair that the Serbian capital uses to showcase its strength, will open in early May
- 174 Focus on Serbia
- 181 Dear Editor...
- 182 Contributors to east n. 14