

in this issue

no.5

july 2005

the interview

004 Editorial BY GIOVANNI MORO

on the other side

008 Ovadia: without culture, there is no Europe EDITED BY VITTORIO BORELLI Interview of Moni Ovadia, a lay Jew, artist without borders, an intellectual who is not in hiding and who considers music and theatre to be universal languages

made in italy

seen by...

018 The Union? At differing speeds EDITED BY ENRICO LETTA

020 Internationalise to stay alive BY FEDERICO FERRARO
L'epoca della delocalizzazione di parti del processo produttivo fondata soltanto su esigenze di contenimento dei costi è ormai conclusa. Lo rivela una ricerca della Fondazione Nord Est

027 More courage, messrs. entrepreneurs BY DANIELE MARINI

028 A decalogue to avoid stalling BY ALDO BONOMI

glocalist leaders

030 A multinational born from mosquito coils EDITED BY GUIDO VIGNA
Enrico Zobebe spiega come, partendo dalla carta moschicida, si possa diventare leader mondiale negli insetticidi, con fabbriche in Europa, Asia e Americhe

034 European Vending Association, or how to grow abroad

EDITED BY ANTONIO BARBANGELO

Non tutto il made in Italy è in sofferenza, come spiega Augusto Garulli, presidente di Confida

new markets

038 Why bet on Romania today

EDITED BY CARMELINA CARLUZZO, STEFANO CHIARLONE, DEBORA REVOLTELLA

Structural flexibility, the quality of the workforce and potential of the outlet market will soon be the advantages of Romania

new europe economic dossier

042 Focus on Poland

management

048 Assistance is coming to marketing from anthropology BY GIULIO SAPELLI

If the market has become global, it has never been more essential to know local cultures than it is now to compete on the markets

network problems

054 Copyright & Copyleft: Fighting it out on the Internet BY SANZIA MILESI

The reasons given by the advocates of "copyright" and those of the ever greater ranks of the supporters of "by permission of author"

dossier

065 OUT OF THE TUNNEL OF POVERTY

066 World Trade: the risk of competitive discrimination DI RENATO RUGGIERO

Lack of success in the Doha Round could have negative consequences for the development of world trade as a whole and even influence the currents of the economy

072 The U.N. Reform? More courage and efficiency BY DONATO SPERONI

To confront the epochal problem of poverty, the U.N. system must confront new challenges. And not limit itself to power games

080 The Security Council should be reformed like this BY GAETANO FERRIERI

One eye on reality and one on the principles that inspired the Charter for a serious reform

086 Poverty: Taking up the challenge BY JEFFREY SACHS

The elimination of poverty is the great opportunity of our time, as Jeffrey Sachs reminds us in his latest work ....

- 095 Biancheri: why the US is playing the Bolton card EDITED BY CRISTINA GIULIANO
The President of Ispi, former ambassador, on the American relationship with the U.N., humanitarian emergencies, ...
- 101 When non profits sell their souls to the devil BY GIULIO MARCON
They constitute the eighth largest economy in this world, but a significant part of the world has lost its autonomy and is yielding to the logic of power
- 107 Rhi-Sausi: when poverty becomes entertainment EDITED BY CRISTIANA LA BIANCA
From Blair to Chirac, from Bono to Schumacher, they are all advocates for a good cause. Why the important thing is that we talk about it
- 113 EDITED BY LARA COTT
- 114 The Great Uzbekistan War-game BY PIERO SINATTI
The massacre in May has been erased. In part so as not to disrupt the big business between Russia and China
- 123 A hornets' nest of people: Dagestan BY GIOVANNI BENSI Mixing with Islamic extremism, the autonomist pressures risk making it a second Chechnya
- 130 Banks are China's weakness BY STEFANO CHIARLONE
The banking system is fragile, but the government is taking cover and from 2007.....
- 136 Something New In The Middle East BY UGO TRAMBALLI
There is a great need for democracy in the entire area. Sharon is moving forward with his peace plan. And even Saudi Arabia ...
- 142 EDITED BY CARLOTTA MAGNANINI
- 144 India, where everything is too big and strange BY MONIKA BULAJ Photographic journey through a great reality that is moving quickly. And where, after the Tsunami, a wave of business at all costs has arrived
- 152 Terzani, the man, the journalist, the philosophical writer BY VALERIO PELLIZZARI
One year ago one of the most curious journalists and a well-loved writer died. Tiziano Terzani seen through the lens of Vincenzo Cottinelli
- 155 Tiziano Terzani VISTO DA VINCENZO COTTINELLI
- 162 Yalta: Almost immediately Roosevelt regretted it BY FERNANDO ORLANDI
Putin's celebrations of the 60th anniversary of victory in the Second World War bring the polemics about Yalta back to the surface. And Bush
- 168 They wrote
Reactions to and opinions about the French and Dutch double No to the Constitution from "The Guardian", "The New York Times", "Le Monde"
- 173 Dear director..
- 174 Who are the contributors to east n.5

free numbers

powder keg urals

new asia

war and peace

"that's incredible" column

reportage

portfolio

history

points of view

letters

who's who